 (The line that never rings!)

In the old days, when we were all very much younger, few hares laid short cuts, and the Knitting Circle (remember them?) did the best they could, Surrey had some remarkable SCBs. Anyone with some energy can be an FRB, but SCBs require intelligence, a good knowledge of the terrain, and a steely will; also of course a skin thick enough to shrug off the mockery at occasional catastrophic failures.. The most talented of these was always Gerry Gurney, and his abilities are undiminished today. He usually these days has Tosser in tow, his fidus Achates, and today they were supremely successful in second-guessing the hare's intentions.; also in upsetting Atalanta, distinctly miffed at running a long (incorrect) check when our heroes elected not to call on finding flour, and apparently silencing Stevie Blunder, who was with them.

By tradition the AGM trail is set by the GM, but fortunately J. Arthur is one of our most experienced and intelligent hares, and set an excellent trail, correctly going round with us as Checking Chicken (and laying his pink flour for short cutters). He gave priority to these last, as seems sensible; but his solutions were steadily getting further from the check circles, and at the furthest south, a fine view point, nobody but Atalanta could find flour. This included very experienced front runners- Blunder and Bean, Randy Pandey, Loopy Lou, Le Pro: all had to return off flour, using the sun and eventually my memories of the cricket field above the Village Hall. Yes, I was with them, as was Master Bates, embarrassed to be running without flour, and a laughing stock when we got in.

The list of acceptances for the Friday night Officials' Dinner included 13 women out of 28, though in the end Speedy Humper could not make it. The effect was charming. I have to say that the list of apologies seemed as long as the roll call of those present; perhaps these occasions are no longer justifiable? Or even wanted?

One aspect of Mothering Sunday was that the wide world, who do not hash but often park outside the Village Hall of Holmbury St Mary, stayed away, and parking was easy. You will not find the old expression Mothering Sunday much used these days – the commercial world prefers “Mothers’ Day” The original sense was religious – it is the 4th Sunday in Lent, when everyone attended the mother church of their area rather than their usual church. Priests wear rose vestments, which happens only twice a year.

The AGM Sunday always attracts more runners than usual, and today we saw Dissa once more, who has not run with us since 2019. A very welcome sight! (Also Mrs Dissa, a rare privilege indeed). RHUM was treated as a returnee, which seems mildly unfair; we also saw Herr Flick – Mad Max – and Teddy Bear turned up in clothes entirely unsuited to hashing, though fine for a party. He professed to have compared the cost of petrol to get there with that of a free lunch; we privileged hashers seldom think of real people who really do have to make such calculations.

Our new Trailmaster is Belcher, who celebrated his promotion by getting well lost on today's trail and ended up, to our surprise and his, with our group of failed front runners. I was reminiscing with Rosemary – does she really deserve her handle, imposed as an echo of Ear Trumpet's? - about her days as Hare Raiser when members of the then tiny Committee were all multi-tasking, if that expression was then current, and SH3 flourished nonetheless. Ah, the good old days!
