North Holmwood is Teetotal territory. True, even he never emphasised that pond, but then the pond proved irrelevant to our morning. This is a relatively unused part of an area we have often hashed in, and the hill of Spook Hill is a little known attraction; it also allowed the hares to start a trail as it should, up, and finish likewise, down. Few of us appeared in Halloween costumes, though Belcher and Veggie Queen did, as also Atalanta. Belcher approved my idea of a Black Dress event, when we could all show off our little black numbers, very fetching.

We ran (as it proved eventually) south and anti-clockwise. Silent Knight – how faithful he is to our Sunday mornings! - took an early lead visitor, a lady accompanying our new friends Followthrough and Allover (if I heard their names aright). Many thanks to our hares.

It is interesting to examine Shakespeare's take on romantic love. Few commentators emphasise an interesting insight: that the Pyramus play is a parody on his own Romeo and Juliet story. "Sighing like furnace, with a woeful ballad made to his mistress' eyebrow" is obviously scornful; "Most loving mere folly" is from the same play. In Love's Labours Lost the men and women do not get together at all; it ends "You that way, we this". The contrived pairing of Beatrice and Benedick is hardly a traditional love story.; the bizarre union in All's Well That Ends Well is not a love story at all. Shakespeare's own marriage failed; his subsequent up the hill, Doug in close attendance. How our Uncle Gerry could appear ahead of them baffles me. I said "as it proved": the key moment of the morning was the check next to the underpass on the A24, and the most southerly point on our run. It was here that Chastity Belt heard voices calling us further south; but this sort of thing is best left to the saints, such as history's most remarkable teenager, Joan of Arc. (Can you think of any with a greater impact? Alexander, perhaps.)

The voices Chastity Belt heard – despite the traffic! - were in her head, but she led a good many astray who believed her. At the Circle Speedy Humper asserted – how could she possibly have known? - that the only three to do the whole trail were herself, J. Arthur as a reluctant but assiduous Checking Chicken, and I, your scribe. We did in the end find the flour which established this run as a left-hander, but I am sure others had done so long before. We soon collected 'IsKnees, and long after we came upon Chastity Belt's group, later acquiring those with the Grand Master. By this time we were becoming perplexed by check circles marked through incorrectly, which is very misleading and unhelpful.

Eskimo Nell had correctly predicted a short trail: we were in at about 12.20. Just after a muddy Silent Knight came in, after being helped by Mrs G, Hash Flash called in a single life seems to have been bisexual. His sonnets have a devastating indictment of desire: "The expense of spirit in a waste of shame/ Is lust in action..." - read the whole poem. Nor are all his women idealised; Cressida is unfaithful, Gertrude remarries absurdly quickly, and as for Regan and Goneril..... (It is startling to think that boy actors could play these parts, still more the genuinely sexy - and mature - Cleopatra). Shakespeare would not have appealed to Mills and Boon readers. So: how should Isabella react to the Duke's last lines in Measure for Measure?

Guess!

J-Arthur (check-chook) makes sure his imaginary friend can keep up.

QUIDS IN QUIDS OUT

GENERAL LEE aka LORD BRYAN DONTLOOKNOWTLIKE BRIAN BRIAN THE SNAIL etc due to run in 9 f hcp at Hq on Wed decided to. give it a rest after he had been out at the beginning of the month

I don't want to risk overstretching myself at my age ' he said

POP DANCER went to Sandown for a 5f sprint at Sandown but could not improve on his 2nd at Brighton in August though he was 2nd/8 here at 16 /1 whilst

POP MASTER went up to Ayr for the prestigious Gold Cup on Fri for a 6f dash and finished 24/26 he had previously finished 4th of 9 as 2 /1 fav at Ascot

POPTRONIC went to Newmarket on the Friday where he could not emulate his two wins in June but did better than his last at York

DOUBLE. CHERRY went to Haydock for a long distance 14f flat race and came 1st/10 "It was a piece of CAKE" she said

On Saturday 2yr old CHERRY also. went to Haydock and came a creditable 3rd at 9 to 2

Lord R comes 2nd again in latest attempt at defying gravity.

PERCY S WORD won his Hurdle at Haydock heavily odds on at 2 to 1 whilst at Goodwood PERCY'S LAD finished down the field a far cry from his 20 /1 win at Chelmsford a month before

5yr SHEILA( IRE) came 2nd from 14 after a 3 month break then disappointed at 4/1 fav to come 12 /12 at Listowel 5yr GLOW WORM( IRE) aka THE WHIPMASTER has not been seen out since July - and the human version ?

ROSE ol ITHACA might just as well stayed there for all the good she did at Wolverhampton However she couldn't have done better in her previous race at Thirsk where she won at 6 to 1 .

Fraid no Changers, for CHAMPAGNE SARAH aka BALLISTA etc ( IRE} running overseas came 5 out of 6 ( 100 /1)

SHE S GOT BOTTLE has won twice at Beverley as fav will she do so well at Newcastle?

Teq's Dodgy Horsey Name Corner - SOME dodgy names have managed to get past the "Name Police":

But here is a tranche of rejects:

OliBeefHooked never got the opportunity to run under that name and neither did Willie Be Hardigan, Jack Schitt or Arfur Foulkesaycke.

Ben Derhover, Ben Timover and Betty Swallocks were all banned, along with the likes of Dick N Cider, Cunning Stunt or Dick Hertz, Curl One Off, Hugh Gass Kisser, Ivana Tinkle, Hugh G Rection, Major B Oner and Pee Nesenvy were also banned.

That's it! - Teq

So... OliBeefHooked : came in at 10 to 4 again!?
