At 10.52 Chastity Belt was fretting that there were too few front runners. In the event she got almost no one but front runners. Our numbers did include Madonna, for once without Cool Box; he has an individual approach to following trails, greatly to be encouraged in these conformist days.

Today's trail did conform to expectations in its opening half: up the usual path, follow the usual approaches to the summit, the trig point at Hydon's Ball. "Hydon had only got one....." The most striking sight up there was J. Arthur, ensconced on the massive stone bench commemorating Octavia Hill, (she helped found the National Trust), delivering instructions to the rest of us and 40s to come with their children; that was the age group of the hash when I joined, as a then elderly 49.

It is sad that in Israel Netanyahu has followed Orban in Hungary, Kaczynski in Poland, in abolishing the independence of the judiciary from political influence. The ruling party can choose the judges and over-ride their decisions: this is perhaps the feature best illustrating the difference between populism and democracy, though the two words obviously mean something very similar. Another such feature is the hostile attitude to outsiders, foreigners, and immigrants in particular: naturally there are such nativists in all countries, chauvinists, but in a genuine democracy theirs is a minority voice, discredited if about solving the checks. Atalanta did find a solution, but that was ruled out (as barred), and 'IsKnees called us back for a different solution, one that I don't think anyone would have found, such was the gorse barring our path.

Well, the only way off a hill is down, and down we went, CL and Mrs Robinson surprising us by staying successfully on the main path while the rest of followed a diversion before we rejoined them. And now the trail became original. We crossed Hambledon Road, ignoring the short cut on offer, and soon found ourselves on a golf course which that enthusiastic golfer RHUM could not remember our ever hashing through. Trails from the Merry Harriers do include that long footpath to the west of the pub, but I cannot recall a trail which used both sides of the road. Mind you, the mud was shocking; dry feet today were an impossibility. Let future hares using that footpath do so in summer. Meanwhile many thanks to today's hares.

Once again Stevie Blunder allowed Ms Bean to share the glory of solving checks with Simple and Atalanta – well, J. Arthur was up there too, as was Bonn Bugle. I have no idea when the front runners got in; I was back just before 1230, with Bonn Bugle confirming the hare's estimate of distance as 4.8 miles. I am sure that 30 or more years ago we all covered the ground a good deal faster on average; ours is now an elderly hash, and I am not sure what we can do to guarantee our survival.

We need parents in their 30s not disregarded. Mind you, even here the hoo-ha over Gary Lineker shows that our government too panders to this same hostility to foreigners who risk their lives to come here. As for Netanyahu, British Jews feel torn in voicing their opinions: should they encourage, or even join, criticism of the Israeli government, or does that just give credit to anti-Semitism?

Populism can be defeated at the polls: think of Trump or Bolsonaro. But it will never be easy; populist regimes (think of New Delhi, Ankara) or oppressive ones, (Moscow, Beijing) are very good at suppressing criticism or even freedom of speech.

Coronation Prep

A missive from Olive Oyl:

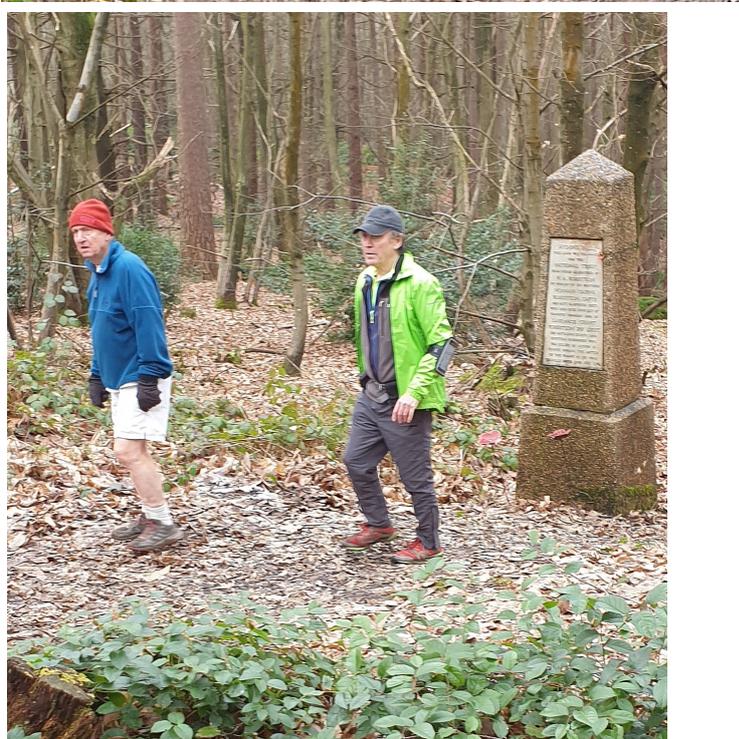

Here are pictures of samples/ideas for an SH3 Harriettes shirt for The King's coronation. About £19 for long sleeved polo shirts.

A range of colours are available from the Logo shop. They have catalogues for shirts with female fit and options such as long or short sleeves. The wording and official Corolean logo on the right side of the shirt would be better in dark on light colours and light on dark colours. (This is evident from these samples.) (!!!! Teq)

If there is any interest in having a shirt made up please discuss with Mrs G at the AGM, or Olive at a later date.

Orders would need to be in shortly after Easter for arrival before 6th May.
