TO THE WOODS! WITH BONN BUGLE AND NO NOOKIE

Since there is much to praise on this trail, apart from the start, let us get the start behind us. Nothing wrong with the Wheatsheaf – we have held an Officials’ Dinner there - but given the road works an absurd place to ask the troops to congregate, since all had to find side roads some way off. Then we could not start while everyone fretted about how to offload and safeguard the beer, so it was almost 11.05 when we got going, on zero flour. Flour began eventually with a check hundreds of metres away. To think that one of the hares is called Parker...Master Bates, our Horsell resident, tells me the attractive clearing we were in for the second check is a Suitable Alternative Natural Green Space, or SANG, an acronym I have never encountered. Simple did not solve that second check, but was otherwise inspired today, finding many of the other solutions.. Now, the woods north of Woking and of Old Woking are excellent for hash trails, rich in car parks, so it is almost impossible to see why we started where we did. The sip stop perhaps, in a front garden, ladled out by Shit for Brains, a mysterious liquid strongly resembling the great grey green Limpopo River some of you will remember from childhood. Yes, well, getting to this house through the side streets allowed our Uncle Gerry to grumble [really? – Ed] about tarmac, whereas the trail itself, apart from crossing main roads, had been free of blacktop, and indeed included Maclaren Park, which I cannot recall from previous trails round here. We also found ourselves at one stage in the car park of the pub called, or once called, Bleak House.

I was very much in the second string of runners today; such stalwarts as Simple, Le Pro and J. Arthur had reached and quitted the sip stop long before our group (Petal, Speedy Humper, Master Bates, RHUM) came anywhere near it. I found them again with the beer, and company: Peay, Ratty, Red Eye, Clever Trevor. Atalanta had nor overtaken us until 12.05; an even later start than usual and then of course no flour in sight.

The very long path we followed through Horsell was rich in both bluebells and alkanet, the colours complementing each other very successfully. In a garden, alkanet is a menace – very invasive – but in the wild admirable.

A girlfriend when I was young enthused about masculine men and feminine women; I made no comment, then, but today would disagree strongly. The better attributes in either – sensitivity and thoughtfulness on the one hand, resilience and resolution on the other – are qualities valuable to both sexes. I have little enthusiasm for the frillier aspects of femininity, but what our society really needs to shed is toxic masculinity, grown men acting like badly behaved schoolboys, and this with a sense of entitlement. Two obvious recent examples: the Metropolitan Police and the CBI. Think what became of that epitome of romantic masculinity, Bonnie Prince Charlie, ending his life in drunken self-pity – a trait shared now by our modern failures, the Incels. Rugged independence, as in early Westerns, may have suited solitary frontiersmen, but is out of place in a community, where social skills are required, where calm and courtesy matter and an attempt at dominance or priority unhelpful. All adults have been through adolescence, which for both sexes is primarily with others of the same sex; much will depend on the culture already obtaining in that group, whether silly or sensible, vicious or mature. Each can contribute to raising the tone.

BonzoBills at Brockham – 28 May after trail 2471 (above)

"Teq's new rôle as the "Accidental Impresario" manifests itself at the Brockham Village Hall and Taphouse with a Gig for his long time favourite artistes in their current incarnation "BonzoBills".

Chunderos, and Pals, are facilitating Hashers getting to the Sunday afternoon event on 28th May by setting the SH3 trail somewhere quite near ... hopefully Betchworth, but TBC.

The band have roots in Bonzo Dog Doo-Dah, Whoopee, and Bill Posters Bands. Not to mention Three Bonzos and a Piano, (I said not to mention...). Some may remember various performances at Les Piercies' Parties etc.

Classic quotations from the late, great Barry Humphries

I always thought motion capture was something you did when you were taking a specimen to the doctor.

To Jeffrey Archer (a good friend): "If you can't laugh at yourself you might be missing the joke of the century."

When Donald Trump was promoting a book, Dame Edna was on the same Parky show and said, "I particularly like the photo of you caressing your skyscraper!"

And I'll never forget the pensive look on Dame Edna's face when she asked KD Lang "When did you first realise you were Canadian?"

When Dame Edna was asked why Australians were so good at sport she replied she could only put it down to a complete lack of intellectual distractions.

He flirted with outrage throughout his career before finally going for broke in 2016 by calling gender realignment surgery "self-mutilation" and Caitlyn Jenner "a publicity-seeking ratbag".

From the Archive

Ear Trumpet (69 trails set) with Mrs G (32 trails) & Strumpet (54 trails) by the hand of Vera Vomit (9 trails). Whatever happened to Sid Snot?

We wish Ear Trumpet peace & happiness in his new home.

UK Nash Hash 2023 in Yorkshire (25-28 August 2023)

The venue is Askham Bryan College, on the outskirts of the historic city of York in one of the UK's most beautiful counties, location of the Yorkshire Dales and North York Moors national parks. The theme of the weekend is Vikings, a nod to York's heritage as a Viking settlement. The majority of the accommodation is in individual student rooms in the college, as well as some spaces for tents and caravans / camper vans. Well, I DID ask for contributions...

Medicine Balls- A Doctor Answers your Questions.

Q) Two friends of mine, one working in the NHS and the other running a Care Home for the Elderly, are showing concerning symptoms which I believe could seriously harm the athletic community if not treated. The former has great difficulty in distinguishing the difference between patients with yellow pallor, yellow tongue, and yellow eyes, and yellow road lines, whilst the latter has started to advocate client euthanasia by what she refers to as "busy road kill". Should I be concerned?

A) You most certainly should. The former appears to have a severe case of, to use its Latin name, "Parkus bonkus", whilst the latter shows advanced symptoms of "Master Bates syndrome". Both would benefit from checking into the Heathside Care Home for a period of rest and reflection, before taking long walks in the more remote rural areas of Surrey, occasionally interspersed by visits to welcoming country hostelrys.

Q) Would this cure them?

A) Not necessarily, but it would certainly improve the wellbeing of the athletic community.

Thanks, where due:

The Hash would like to thank Peay (Tiller) for guarding the beer while the pack drove around in ever decreasing circles in search of non-existent parking.

The Snorting Life

HOORNBLOWER was seen competing at Windsor on Monday but seems to have made no show

SIR RUMI had a pre Birthday run a week earlier at Kempton but MAX MAYHEM had them all beaten with the above 11th but only just over 4 lengths adrift of the winner

JENNY REN went forth in a 1 3/4m handicap at Wolverhampton and came 4th Don't forget to look up JENNY horse Frankfurt on youtube etc Well worth a look.

DAAFY who was running at Southwell which is probably his favourite course ran there on Tuesday and finished 6th/10 a short head in front of POP FAVOURITE.

Whilst BEAR FORCE ONE aka Little Bear (where she?) etc. earlier celebrated All Fools day at Kempton with a 16/1 win.

At Cheltenham in a 3m Hurdle HURRICANE HARVEY at 33/1 was only 1.5 lengths behind the winner in 3rd. SPORTING MIKE aka Follow Through? went to Bangor for a night - on 3m hurdle and finished 2nd at 8/1. LITTLE JO JO was pulled up Bumped into MoonWalker aka MICKY DEE etc. recently who said he sends his apologies for missing several hashes but hopes to be along soon with Follow Through? aka SPORTING MIKE and bro DENNIS the Menace & his machine.

ICY DIP aka Cool Box wanting to show her November win was no fluke participated in a 1m at Kempton and beat LADY WORMESLY and the rest to win at 2/1.

In the SCOTTISH GRAND NATIONAL would COOPER S CROSS get over her / his (well Gary Tail End is also a Cooper) CROSSness to focus on the job in hand? Would LORD ACCORD pull out all the stops?

LORD ACCORD did manage to remain upright but finished down the field in 9th

In the event COOPERS CROSS. @25/1 made a storming finish to challenge KITTY LIGHT.

Meanwhile at Hexham in a gruelling 3mile chase GIBBERWELL focussed on the job in hand and showed he was no back number winning a at 8/1.

Likewise DOUGLAS TALKING came 2nd in a quality race at Aintree Fortunately STOP TALKING aka BUMBLE BEE etc. wasn't around to discourage the above two.

Traveller EL PRO went to compete in a 2m handicap at Longchamp but was no match for EL MAESTRO and the rest

At the Spring meeting at Epsom RUM COCKTAIL was a non-runner in the first but later on triumphed in the 3.35 in the guise of SIR RUMI and in the guise of SIR RUMBALICIOUS came first at 11/4 in the evening meeting at Wolverhampton FLEURSALS was under 2 length 4th @,50/1.

(The original RHUM is now out to graze and has been for some time finishing his career on a high at Ludlow to win 1/13 at 10/1 at the age of 11 -there is hope for us oldies yet !

Wednesday already so Adios Amigos

Hasta Pronto
